REGISTRATION BILL.

Moore Introduces a Measure in the House for the Supposed Purification of the Ballot Box-Other Measures Acted Upon.

But one session of the legislature was held yesterday, and though the houses did not convene until 2 o'clock, several members were conspicuous by their absence, having missed their trains. The proceedings of the house were tame and uninteresting, the general desire being to adjourn, which was finally done to the satisfaction of a majority of the members. The bill relating to attachments in justices courts was reconsidered, but was killed for the second time, and unless it have as many lives as a cat, will remain dead. Mr. Moore introduced a registration bill, which will create discussion when it comes committee of the whole. The bill prohibiting county commissioners from employing additional counsel unless under certain circumstances was passed by the council. The bill providing for a determination of boundaries of certain west side counties was signed by the president of the council. The bill providing that justices of the peace may act as police magistrates under certain conditions was passed. The committee to may act as police magistrates under certain conditions was passed. The committee to which was referred the bill providing for a commissioner to the Paris exposition recommended that no one be employed and the recommendation was agreed to. Brown introduced a bill relative to persons occu-pying public lands. The bill providing for the transfer of certain county moneys to the school fund was passed.

THE COUNCIL

All of the members of the council were on hand at 2 o'clock, except Mr. Hoffman, and he was excused. After prayer by the chaplain, the minutes of Saturday's session were read and approved.

Kennedy, from the committee on enroll ment, reported council bill No. 8, concerning the boundaries of the west side coun ties, as correctly enrolled.

Conrad, from the committee on grazing and stockraising, reported the house bounty bill with the recommendation that it pass. The bill was placed on general or-governor's communication of Jan. 28, 1889, in relation to necessary and proper legislation in regard to the safety of working and securing mines, and the making of some provision in relation to the World's Exposition at Paris, to be opened in May next, beg leave to report the following:

First—So far as the working and securing of mines are concerned, your commit-partial collection could be made. Many of our mining centers are covered with snow, and so difficult of approach as to render it impossible to procure a collection of minerals from them which would do honor and credit to the mining industry of Montana.

3. And further, the exposition to take place in Paris in May next is beyond the sea, which is an additional obstacle to those presented by the winter season.

4. That while we remember that during the year 1888 Montana was proven to be the greatest producer of the precious metals of any of the states and territories of the United States—a fact that is well known and attested to the mining, financial and commercial worlds—and contributed to the wealth of the world by its output in gold, silver, copper and other valucial and commercial worlds—and contributed to the wealth of the world by its output in gold, silver, copper and other valuable metals over $33,000,000, that it is the most inviting field for the prospector or investor in mining operations on the face of the globe, that while we would gladly welcome every honest and capable laborer and capitalist to help to develop the vast resources of the solid and enduring wealth of our territory, we regret to say that there is now a law on the statute books of the United States to which we must and do bow in humble submission and obedience that prohibits any alien from investing in any of our mining properties while we re main a territorial dependency. Suppose, then, that we should go to the expense of at least $20,000, to say nothing of the pains and labors of the owner and laborers in our mines, to exhibit at Paris such evidences of our wealth and resources, what good would come from it? The capitalists of all foreign countries would turn their backs with a sneer, because they know that by the law of congress they are de-

While your committee heartily agree with and approve the statesmanlike views of the governor, we are of the opinion that no commissioner should be appointed to the Paris exposition and that no funds should be appropriated therefor, for the reasons above given.

The report was referred to general orders.

The report was referred to general orders.

Thompson, of Deer Lodge, from the engrossing committee, reported council bill No. 11, concerning the employment of additional counsel by county commissioners; council bill No. 7, providing the method of drawing jurors; council bill No. 13, concerning the legal rate of interest; council bill No. 15, concerning justices of the peace acting as police magistrates, and council bill 18, concerning grounds for the issuance of writs of attachments, as correctly engrossed. The bills were placed on file for third reading.

Bickford introduced council bill No. 28, an estray law. The bill provides that estrays may be taken up if coming upon the premises of a person, and the party taking up the estray must immediately file with the county cierk a complete description of the animal. After one year, if the animal has not been claimed it may be sold, ten days' notice of the sale being given. The party taking up the estray is allowed to charge 50 cents a month for the expense of keeping the estray. The bill was read first and second times and ordered printed.

Collins introduced council bill No. 29, a printing law. It has much the same features as the present law, except that it reduces the prices of blank books and some other work of a similar character, changes

Council bill No. 16, defining the grounds agent who shall violate any of the provisideration of the house bounty bil was postponed. The report of the commit tee on mines and minerals was taken up tee on mines and minerals was taken up.

Mr. President moved that the paragraph in relation to the Paris Exposition be referred to a joint committee. This was opposed by Mr. Brown in a lengthy speech, but the recommendation was carried, though evidently under a misunderstanding of the motion or carelessness on the part of the members in voting, for when the commit-tee rose a moment later and the chairman reported, that part of the report was strick-en out and the rest of the report adopted. A message from the house announced that council bill No. 4 had been passed, while the cierk had transmitted house bill No. 4 investigation showed that the message was incorrect, it being house bill No. 4 that was passed. The house met at 2 o'clock, the roll call showing Congdon, Murray and Carver absent. On motion they were excused. Blakeley inquired whether the action of the committee of the whole relative to council bill No. 3, which relates to attachments in justices courts, was final.

The chair stated that such was the case, but if no objection was made he would at the proper time entertain a motion to reconsider the vote by which the report was adopted.
Saxton, from committee of the whole reported the action of the committee, and the report was adopted.

House bill No. 10, relating to compensation of justices of the peace, was ordered Davis gave notice of an act regulating siness of pawnbrokers and junk dealers.

Biakeley moved that the vote by which council bill No. 3, relating to attachments in justices' courts, was indefinitely postponed be reconsidered, and stated in support of the motion that it was a bill in the interest of the poor man but not of any particular value to attorneys, whose business might be to some extent unfavorably affected by it. He explained the nature of the bill, said it might in one respect require amendment, adding that it had stood the test of practical operation in the state of Colorado.

state of Colorado. Hunt replied that the judiciary comm tee were upanimous in reporting the bill unfavorably. The bill could not radically assist the poor man, as it was certain to inassist the poor man, as it was certain to increase litigation. In his experience he had observed that the moment you increased the powers of justices of the peace beyond those aiready conferred, that moment le gai complications began. He disclaimed any selfish motive in unfavorably reporting the bill which he believed if no other objections were offered violated the organic act of the territory and the constitution of the United States.

The motion to re-refer the bill was lost, ayes 6, nays 9.

Mr. President: Your committee on mines an minerals to which was referred the governor's communication of Jan. 28, 1889, in relation to necessary and proper legislation in regard to the safety of working and securing mines, and the resking of some provision in relation to the World's Exposition at Paris, to be opened in May next, beg leave to report the following:

First—So far as the working and securing of mines are concerned, your committee find that there is now pending in the house of representatives a bill for the creation of the office of mine inspector, with which your committee are in hearty sympathy; and your committee are in hearty sympathy; and your committee are of the belief that the passage of such a bill will greatly tend to the safety of those engaged in the business of mining.

Second—Your committee do not believe it prudent or wise to recommend to the legislative assembly of the territory of Montana the appropriation of any money or the appointment of any commissioner to the Paris exposition in May next, for the following reasons:

The Workmen on the Opera House at Refuse to Work Without Pay. Butte last night it is understood that work on Maguire's opera house has again stopped. Four carpenters were set to work last Monday with the promise that they should receive their pay regularly each Sunday, also that 25 per cent of the old indebtedness would be paid. Sunday came around but no money was forthcoming and the place is once more locked up. It is said by one of the employes that the liens, which now amount to something like $4,000, were filed on the building at the $4,000, were filed on the building at the suggestion of James A. Murray who was believed to be largely interested in the building but that gentleman now says he sold his interest to a New York man. A leading pawn broker, of Butte, told several of the employes he would buy the liens, but after they had been filed and were offered to him he stated that he had a conversation with Mr. Murray and concluded he would not purchase them. Even the newspapers are against the men and refused to publish a statement of their case. About thirty men are interested in the matter, and they have decided to have circulars printed and distributed giving the inside facts of their troubles to the public. They claim that they are being defrauded out of their money.

they are being defrauded out of their money.

There is fully three weeks' work to be done before the house can be put in shape to put on a play. The plumbers and gasfitters, who were putting in pipes and fixtures under contract, have quit the work, leaving it half done. No one else can go in and finish the work, as it was let by contract, and those who started will not proceed until they receive some money. To finish the work and settle all debts it is estimated that $8,000 is required. The Butte public are becoming thoroughly disgusted with the way the opera house affair is being conducted and they are generally in sympathy with the workmen. The condition of affairs has not in the least been benefited by Maguire's return, his statements to the contrary notwithstanding.
